
time reference calibration

Time reference calibrations

The time reference from the time distribution of the hit has been measured in two ways:

- looking at the channel of the same tiger and view together (separating X and V)

- studying the time reference channel by channel

Data without time walk correction have been used for this preliminary study

