Presentation Tips

Presentation Slides Uploading

During FB23, speakers should use the laptop in the meeting rooms to give the presentation. Volunteers will download your presentation slides from the Indico system a day before your session. Please upload your slides to Indico at least one day before the session. The program of the conference can be found in:

<https://indico.ihep.ac.cn/event/21083/timetable/#20240923>

Check Your PPT Slides before Your Session

To get a better performance for the meeting, we strongly recommended that speakers come to the meeting room at least half a day before their sessions to confirm the slides are in the latest version. During your testing, the staff of your meeting room will get the ratio of your slides and choose a better screen setting to match your slides.

If you have animation, video, music, or other multi-media documents in your slides, please let the staff know first.

Time for Oral Presentations

Speakers should check the time for oral presentations. The time includes about 5 minutes Q&A session. During the presentation, the chair of each session may inform the speaker when he or she has 5 minutes/3 minutes left by raising the time reminder

About Beijing (China)

Weather

September, praised as a golden month in Beijing, is cool, clear and brisk. Everywhere presents a harvest scene. The weather can still be hot in the afternoons during early September, but it is delightfully cool in the morning and evening. September is a good time to visit Beijing. The weather is comfortable and the fall scenery is very beautiful. The Traditional Chinese Mid-autumn Festival usually falls during the month, which adds a festive atmosphere to the city.

What to Wear in Beijing in September

Currency, Exchange, and Payment Methods In China

Chinese Currency

Renminbi (人民币) or RMB is the official currency of China, and it means “people’s currency” in Chinese. The basic unit of RMB is yuan (元), and the sign of yuan is ¥. CNY is the abbreviation of Chinese yuan, which is also been used widely to refer to Chinese currency.

Currency Exchange

After arriving in China, you can find many places to exchange Chinese currency, such as the exchange vendors in the major international airports, hotels, offices of local banks, and ATMs across the region. Exchanging major international cash, such as U.S. Dollars, Euros, Pounds, etc. into Chinese Yuan is not difficult in China. The exchange rates are regulated; however, the commission fees are varied from different banks, hotels, and airports.

Payment Methods in China

Credit and debit cards may not cover all your expenses in China. With the widespread popularity of digital payments, many businesses no longer offer point-of-sale (POS) systems for credit and debit card users. However, you can still use your bank cards via POS systems at selected hotels, shopping malls, and larger restaurants. Cash is still widely accepted. It is also very reliable. You’d better always bring some cash with you including some small changes.

Digital payment is the norm in China, with Alipay and WeChat Pay leading the way. Since July 2023, they’ve started accepting international cards through their apps, though success may vary depending on the user’s country and bank.

About Beijing (China)

Electricity

Voltage in China is 220V/50HZ. Hotels provide 220V and 110V (shavers only) power outlets. Please note that plug adapters and converters might be required.

Smoking

Smoking in indoor public places has been banned in Beijing since June 1, 2015, following the rolling out of the toughest-ever anti-smoking regulation in China. The regulation extends smoking bans to include all indoor public areas and workplaces, plus a number of outdoor areas including schools, seating areas in sports stadiums, and hospitals where women or children are treated.

Time

China covers five time zones. Beijing time (UTC + 08:00) is the only official time throughout the country; China Standard Time is 8 hours ahead of Greenwich Mean Time (GMT + 8). China does not operate Daylight-saving Time. Punctuality is highly appreciated.

The BEIJING PASS: Explore China with Ease

Beijing Pass, a multi-purpose card for international visitors, facilitating their payment for transportation, tourist sites and shopping centers. This card is issued for sale and can be recharged repeatedly.

With a maximum balance of 1,000 yuan (about 140.16 U.S. dollars), the Beijing Pass not only supports card payments for the Beijing Subway, suburban railways and taxis within Beijing, but also for public transportation in over 300 cities across China. Card holders can top up their Beijing Pass at 490 stations across 27 subway lines in Beijing through service counters or designated self-service machines. They can also add funds online via the "SilkPass" mobile application.

Moreover, international visitors can also use the card to purchase tickets for 30 popular tourist attractions in Beijing, such as the Summer Palace, the Temple of Heaven and the Badaling section of the Great Wall.

How to get the Beijing Pass ?

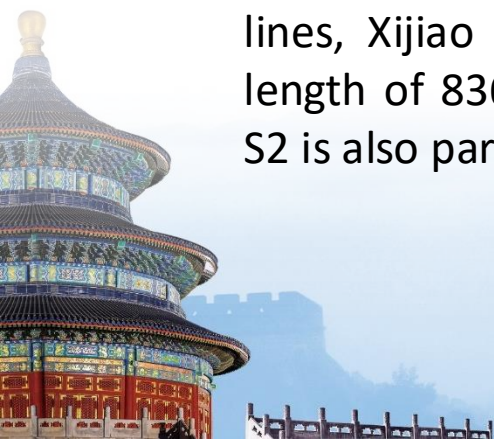

International visitors can purchase or refund the Beijing Pass at 15 locations in Beijing, including Beijing Capital International Airport, Beijing Daxing International Airport and Beijing Railway Station, with a valid ID.

Beijing metro enables 'tap-and-go' fare payment for foreign MasterCard, Visa card holders

Beijing has become the first city on the Chinese mainland supporting contactless fare payments in rail transit for foreign MasterCard and Visa card holders.

International visitors can use MasterCard and Visa cards issued overseas to take rides on the city's entire rail transit network, and pay automatically according to the same billing rules as the local residents.

The service is comprehensively available at all gates across 490 stations along 27 subway lines (including two airport lines, Xijiao Line and Yizhuang T1 Line), covering a total length of 836 km. Additionally, the Suburban Railway Line S2 is also part of this scheme.

Tips: How to use AliPay in China

In China, people could pay for their daily cost by 5 payment methods: Bank card, mobile payment, cash, bank account and e-CNY.

Nowadays, digital payment is the most popular way. People just need to download the payment APPs and link their bank cards to it according to the steps, and then they could pay for the transfer, dinning, tickets and almost anything could be bought by a smart phone.

Follow the 2 steps shown in the right pictures, you could download the Alipay – one of the most popular APPs for mobile payment in China - and try to pay your cost during your stay in Beijing by Mobile.
